My best friend, another Gemini, and I celebrated our birthdays during the monsoon season of central New Mexico. Here were twin clouds over the Cabazon Peak to the west, where we shared many hikes. The suggestion of the Rio Grande lies before us. | oil | 18 x 24 | $1,200 |
| 6. The Right Time
The magic hour when the sun is low and our Sandias are illuminated and aglow is when I'm filled with awe and reverence. Darkness is soon to follow. It's the in-between, where all is quiet, where activity settles, and it is The Right Time. | oil | 36 x 48 | $8000 |
| 7. Reconciliation, Flows From the Sea Tybee Island series
Before moving to New Mexico, I stayed for a bit in a fishing cottage on Tybee Island, GA. Located right on the Savannah River, there were wonderful beach days watching dolphins and light glistening on water. The marshlands held a special beauty with its delicate streams coursing through roses and pinks. | pastel | 14 x 21.5 | $1600 |
| 8. Harvest Moon Adagio
Short description | oil | 22 x 34 | $3800 |
| 9. It Was a Very Good Year
This plein aire drawing at the former Anasazi Fields winery resulted in a trade for sculpture, wine, friendship and hikes. The freedom of the leaves in the fall wind is the subject, and the next day, all had blown away. I challenged myself to recreate it in oil, which was reproduced with giclee inks on canvas, and then again in the large horizontal piece. (See story on easel.) | pastel | 25 x 19.5 | $2200 |
| 10. Walking With Spirit
Short description | oil | 24 x 30 | $2800 |
| 11. The Surrender to Emerging Growth
En plein aire, the last snow lingers in shadows. I learn so much working outside in my nearby Sandia foothills | pastel | 14 x 18 | $1250 |
